

MONA / 2023

MUSEUM OF NEBRASKA ART

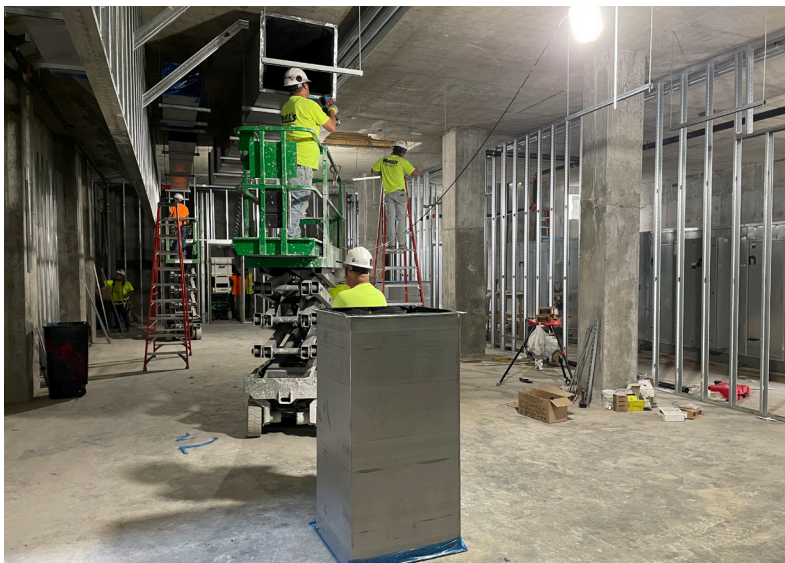

While we have said it a few times before, BIG things are really happening at MONA!

The addition's true scale is showcased by the two new stair towers, which reach a dizzying height and currently dominate the sky above the foundation.

In the lower level of the expansion, air handlers, walls, duct work, and electrical are all coming together giving special attention to collection safety. In addition, the new visible art storage is sure to be a focal point, giving visitors a "behind the scenes" view into collection storage.

All of this progress is a true testament to the support we have received during this project. While it may be in our backyard, MONA is YOUR museum, and we are honored to be able to share the art of Nebraska in such an amazing space for all to see.
